Key Words: Law on Normalization of the Basque Language. Linguistic policy.

In: Rev. int. estud. vascos. 43, 2, 355-424

Abstract: The initial part of the report attempts to locate the current model of bilingual teaching in the social context of the seventies, in which a good part of the paradigms that gave life and legitimization to the current process were forged. The author then analyses some elements that allow us to assess up to what point the normalization law of 1982 has materialized within the educational area. Finally some obvious questions are discussed with reference to their possible evolution process are discussed.

In: Rev. int. estud. vascos. 43, 2, 425-439

The author also describes the procedure followed for the installation of a linguistic normalization system that, in accordance with the existing precedents in the Basque Country and the majority trends in the area of the comparative Law, opts for the conversion into Basque of the public function itself.

Díaz Noci, Javier (Eusko Ikaskuntza. Miramar Jauregia – Miraconcha, 48. 20007 Donostia): Los medios de comunicación y la normalización del euskera: balance de dieciseis años (The media and the normalization of the Basque language: the balance after sixteen years) (Orig. es)

In: Rev. int. estud. vascos. 43, 2, 441-459

Abstract: During the sixteen years in which Basque Language Normalisation Act (Ley de Normalización del Euskera) has been in force, the presence of the Basque language in the media has passed through very different conditions. A mirror for the situation of the country, sometimes distorted by different considerations, for example political parties’ interests, media have given a treatment to Basque language very far from that of the normalised languages. Because of different reasons: politics, of course, and symbolic reasons as well (adherence of language to concrete cultural manifestations and ideologies), apart from those derived from its condition od minority language, lately standardised. At the gates of the twenty first century, Basque language is not already fully implemented in communication world.

Abstract: The article intends to reflect about how belonging to the club of the countries of the Eurus is going to affect us all in three different areas: the macroeconomic, the micro-economic and the institutional areas. The Europe of the single currency constitutes a unprecedented opportunity for our welfare. But in order to use it we need courage, new ideas and clear priorities, both in the public as well as in the private sector. Government levels different from that of the State Governments will acquire an increasingly greater protagonism, that will allow us to participate in the institutional design as well as in the construction of a Social Europe that is still being established today.
